I like Languages Alive because I get to make new friends and I get to learn about Lots of Languages. LA has made me realise that I want to learn more languages when I get older. I am studying Japanese when I go to university.

I think that Languages Alive is a great place to learn the traditions of lots of different cultures. The presenters are good because they know languages by heart and the activities are so much fun.

I look forward to coming to Languages Alive because we have fun while we are learning new languages. When I get older I want to come to the school of Languages to do Let's Talk. I want to learn Indonesian in high school so that I can learn more about Dad's language and culture.

I've been coming to Languages Alive since I was 9. I have learnt that you can go deeper into your understanding and knowledge of different cultures and countries.

Daniel Carter, Parent of Languages Alive participants (Georgia and Scarlett)

Languages Alive has been such a great introduction to learning about other languages and cultures. My daughters have really enjoyed meeting other children from other schools in Adelaide and joining in such fun activities. They have been attending since 2019. As soon as it gets advertised, we sign up straight away, so we don't miss out. They get so excited about going!
